School officials to try again

Voters pass renewal, but reject tax increase

By JIM CARRAVALLAH

Roman Staff Writer

Romulus taxpayers will again be asked in September to approve a tax increase after rejecting a 5-mill request Monday.

The tax hike, which would have raised $1 million for school operations during the coming school year, was defeated by almost a 3-1 margin, while a 10-mill renewal request to run for 10 years passed by a bare 100-vote margin.

The vote came at the same time electors in Romulus returned School Board Treasurer Jack A. Bath to office and elected newcomer Shirley Lombardi to a four year term on the board as a trustee. Mrs. Lombardi replaces Hulen Yates, who chose not to seek reelection this year.

Mrs. Lombardi will be spared the certain agony facing the board as it moves to pare its projected 1976-77 budget by $1 million—cutting drastically into personnel, while attempting to salvage as much of the curriculum as possible. She doesn't take office until July 1.

"There's no other way around the cuts other than getting into personnel," said Supt. James A. Garfield following the defeat of the millage increase request. "We hope to have the cuts completed by June 28."

"We're disappointed that the increase request didn't pass," Garfield said. "But I can say with some certainty that residents will be asked again to vote on a millage hike.

"We have one more election date between the primary and general election, state and national elections this year."

Although the board has the option of requesting the millage again, Garfield said there is no possible way schools will open without cuts next year.

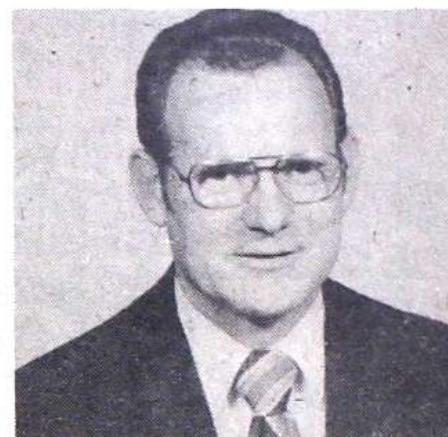

"Even if the millage were approved in September, we couldn't collect any of the taxes until December," Garfield said. "That means the cuts must be implemented."

Garfield said options available to the board include "maintaining the status quo" of school operations by postponing the opening of three new school buildings, to be completed this year with funds from a 1973 bond issue.

"One consideration may be to leave the two new elementary schools and the new junior high school closed for the year as a cost-saving measure," Garfield said. "We'll certainly also consider reductions in the area of affiliated programs, including shared-time programs with other school districts."

"But it's difficult to say just what will be done now, because we hadn't planned on the millage being defeated when the new budget was drawn up."

Romulus board members found themselves saddled with nearly $300,000 in cuts in state and county aid, and a projected deficit in the 1976-77 budget due to the rearrangement of the state's taxing system for businesses when they drew up the 1976-77 budget.

Bath (right), Lombardi elected to school board

However, the budget was drawn up in anticipation that the district would receive the $1 million which the 5-mill tax increase would have raised.

The funds would have covered the deficit, the projected tax loss and rising costs.

While the district faces cuts, particularly in the area of personnel and some services, it also must negotiate this year with the Romulus Education Association (REA), which labored through nearly 10 months of negotiations last year before agreeing on a contract that expires at the beginning of the 1976-77 school year.

While teachers backed the millage increase proposal by financing some of the campaign material that urged its approval, they also vowed following last year's extended negotiations that included state intervention, never to work again without a contract, pending a settlement.

Talks ran on from April 1975, until February of this year before the contract was settled, with the teachers staying in their classrooms when school opened last September.

Canine 'royalty' on secret trip?

By JIM CARRAVALLAH

Roman Staff Writer

A Romulus dog kennel found itself boarding "royalty" last week when a couple identifying themselves as the "king and queen" of Iran dropped off two dogs for some special care.

Hazel Collins, who operates the Gaelic-Sho-Co Kennels at 17880 Inkster Rd., Romulus, with her husband, Charles, said the couple dropped off two unidentified dogs on June 7 and picked them up on June 12.

"They were under guard, and it was supposed to be a secret that they were here," said Mrs. Collins. "I don't know the breed of the dogs, but the couple who brought them said this was the first time the dogs had been out of Arabia."

Collins said the two animals were both larger than German Shepherd dogs and that both were broad shouldered with tails that curved over their backs.

"They were beautiful animals—something anyone would be proud to own," Mrs. Collins said.

Mrs. Collins said the two "royal" boarders were brought to the kennel late in the night on June 7, after she received a call from a person she described as a foreigner, who identified himself as the "king of Iran". Though Mrs. Collins didn't get the name of the two pet owners, she did say the "queen" called her husband "your majesty."

The state department was unaware of any visit to the United States by any "king or queen" of Iran. However, Mrs. Collins maintains she has two secret addresses for the couple—one for Iran and the other for an unspecified location in the United States.

"I can contact them if I want to," she said. "But I'm not allowed to tell anyone where."

"This whole visit was very secret, but I've been getting calls all day about the dogs."

Mrs. Collins called The Romulus Roman to report her visit by the "royal" canine.

Romulus, spread to stock valued at $300,000 awaiting delivery to industrial users throughout the Southeastern Michigan area.

Though Stewart said the business "is no danger other than to itself" because of its location a half-mile south of the road in a vacant field, fire units from the city and the township battled the blaze with tanker trucks, which had to be used to haul water to the isolated site.

The blaze was so intense due to the estimated 30-35 mile-per-hour winds which fanned the area, that trees standing some 100 feet from the site burst into flames.

"We saved nearly half the stock on hand because of the all-out effort of the city employees," Stewart said. "I had suggested to the company that it crank up a couple of bulldozers on the site to make a firebreak in the storage area so the flames wouldn't spread."

"But for some reason, the employees at the place couldn't start the machines."

"So I ordered the city's two front-end loaders to be brought to the site and see what could be done to help put the fire out."

"Those drivers worked like demons and did an excellent job of helping to put out the fire."

City residents apparently appreciated the efforts, as they flocked to the blaze site to offer the firefighters aid. Mrs. Donna Seese of Wayne Road, made sandwiches and sent them to the fire site during the week for the past three years because of violations, but that the ticketing didn't seem to bother the operators.

Stewart said some consideration is being made to closing the business down permanently if the destruction of better than half the business disqualifies the operation from existing as a non-conforming use.

"Fighting this thing was extremely costly to Romulus," Stewart said. "Unless the operators want to cooperate now, we'll do our best to eliminate the problem in the future entirely."

Stewart said the business will be bailed by the city for the additional fire-fighting efforts.

"We may get some money for the time the DPW workers spent at the site," Stewart said. "I think the owners will be grateful to pay something for the extra work, since it resulted in saving nearly 50 percent of their inventory."

"And we're going to take steps to ensure that we don't have to battle something like this again."

Stewart indicated that, although the city's firefighters spent nearly 12 hours at the site, the city was not left defenseless against the threats of other blazes.

The cities of Taylor and Wayne were on standby to handle any other emergencies in Romulus under the Western Wayne County Mutual Aid Pact, he said.

It was the same Mutual Aid Pact that brought the Van Buren units to the Romulus site.

Man convicted in slaying

By JIM CARRAVALLAH

Roman Staff Writer

A Romulus man has been convicted of the kidnap-sex slaying of a Taylor man last September.

Mark Leo Martin, 25, was found guilty in Wayne County Circuit Court of the murder of Edwin Carleton, 20, who was kidnapped while driving his car near the intersection of Ecorse and Beech Daly roads in Taylor, and was strangled in a vacant field in Romulus.

Martin attempted to use as his defense that he was attacked by Carleton after he fell asleep while riding in the Taylor man's car.

However, a 12-member jury concluded that Martin forced himself on the quiet bank clerk after apparently entering the Taylor man's car by force just minutes after Carleton had left the home of his fiance enroute to his residence, less than a mile away.

Carleton was reported missing by his parents Sept. 3, and his body, nude from the waist down with a tie knotted around his neck, was found in a vacant field adjacent to the Wick Road Elementary School the next day—just two days after the school had opened.

Martin was arrested in connection with the case less than a week later when sheriff's detectives, including Sgt. Dale Orth and Det. Edward Linberg, learned that the man had been seen throwing a checkbook belonging to Carleton into a ditch near Beverly and Inkster roads.

However, Martin was released after he passed a lie detector test during which he stated he found the checkbook lying at the side of the road.

Detectives retraced the trail back to Martin less than two months later, however, when a man reported to the investigating officers that Martin had approached him with an offer to sell a ring which had belonged to the murdered man.

The informant had responded to an article carried in the Romulus Roman in which sheriff's officers had requested persons having knowledge of some personal effects taken from Carleton's body to contact the investigators.

After the second arrest, Martin admitted the slaying.

Martin, however, stunned those in attendance at the 2½-week trial in Wayne County Circuit Court which began May 24, when he changed his original statement that he was guilty of the murder and stated he was acting in "self defense" after obtaining a ride as a hitchhiker the day before Carleton's body was found.

The Romulus man claimed he was sexually attacked while he slept and that he knotted the tie about Carleton's throat in an effort to "knock out" the victim so he could flee from the vacant field.

However, jurors indicated that Martin's story didn't coincide with the facts surrounding the case, since Martin hadn't stopped to check the victim before fleeing, even though he indicated he "hadn't meant to" kill Carleton. The tie knotted about the victim's neck had been so tight that skin and muscle obscured it from view.

Carleton had no weapons in the car.

Sentencing on the conviction is scheduled today before Wayne Circuit Judge Theodore Bohn.

Martin could be imprisoned for life.

Community mart opens

New worker

New worker—Charles Walls, 7-year administrator of Romulus' 34th District Court, poses with Judges Henry Zaborowski (left) and James B. Stone after being appointed court magistrate. Walls will handle minor, routine judicial matters in his capacity. The appointment is designed to insure residents who need court action on certain matters speedy attention and also to provide the two judges with more leeway in scheduling trials.—ANP photo.

The first session for the Romulus Community Mart this summer is scheduled for June 26 at the Romulus Progressive Club, near Five Points in the city.

Scheduled to run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. each Saturday during the summer and early fall, the Community Mart is designed to bring the community together in an old-fashioned bartering and trading atmosphere.

This year's opening session will be kicked off by the Romulus Kiwanis Club, which will hold its annual pancake supper in conjunction with the Community Mart at Kennedy Park just across the street from the Progressive Club.

Persons wishing to sell goods this year will receive a bit of a "break" as the price for a stall in the display area has been reduced to $2 per session.

In addition, the first session will be free for any sellers.

According to Beverly McAnally, under a judge's direction.

"My duties basically are designed to free up the judges for more detailed trial work and to insure speedy judicial proceedings for persons at the district court," Walls said. "It's a real honor for a person without a law school degree to receive this trust."

Walls, his wife and their three children, live in Belleville. He is 49 years old.

community mart chairman, residents are welcome to sell anything in the area of home-grown produce, flowers and handicrafts. In addition, there is space available for the sale of collectors items such as low cost antiques.

"We're looking for even better participation than we had last year," Mrs. McAnally said. "With the Bicentennial spirit sweeping the nation, this seems to be one way to remember that old spirit, since it's so much like the old-time community fairs around which this country's commerce was built."

Planned for throughout the summer is a series of events, similar to the series held in conjunction with the community mart held last year.

Included in those events were service-club sponsored activities, demonstrations or arts and crafts and performances and entertainment by school and civic groups.

Box enters VB election

A long-time Belleville-area businessman and Van Buren Township resident will seek the Republican nomination as the Van Buren Township supervisor on the September primary ballot.

Landy Box, 60, said he is seeking the nomination "to fight the mounting problems which are attacking life in Van Buren Township."

A real estate broker and the former owner of Box's Jewelry, Box said he has been "active as a citizen to contain the bureaucracy" and that he believes his background in business and community affairs would benefit the citizens of Van Buren, if he were elected supervisor.

A member of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Box is the first president of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce and is a past president of the Belleville Rotary Club. He also is a member of the Knights of Columbus.

Besides serving as owner of the jewelry and office supply store, Box served on the Board of Directors of Wayne Federal Savings, and now serves as an advisor to Standard Federal Savings, which bought out the Wayne organization.

Box said his background in finance, particularly in dealing with "five and six figure mortgages" has acquainted him with finances, and said he believes that expertise would benefit him as township supervisor.

Box said he stands for wresting control of Willow Run Airport from the Wayne County Road Commission and for taking away some of the power of the Detroit Water Board and the Wayne County Drain Commissioner.

Box is married and the father of two children—a daughter, 24, and son, 22.

Hink to seek county's 27th district seat

A recent graduate of the University of Detroit Law School is seeking the Democratic Nomination for the Wayne County 27th Commissioner District on the primary ballot.

Walter Hink, 30, of Van Buren Township, will seek the nomination on the pledge that he will work "to make the county government more efficient."

"I have something to contribute to the community, and now is the time to start," said Hink, who has lived in the district since 1965. "We are fast approaching the point of no return in the rising taxation given county taxpayers, and I think there is a need for a common sense approach to government financing and to the need for the county bureaucracy."

Hink said he is engaging in research on the mounting problems in Wayne County and will come out with "position papers" detailing the problems and his proposed solutions later in the campaign.

Hink is a graduate of Wayne State University with a degree in business and finance, and enlisted in the U.S. Air Force prior to graduating from law school. He currently is employed at the H. F. Campbell Development Co. in Detroit.

Married to a teacher in the Van Buren School District, Hink said he believes his background in law and his education in business would be an asset to any person seeking the county commission post.

Airlines sets fair

The employees of American Airlines will be holding a weekend Country Fair on the Detroit Metropolitan Airport grounds.

Scheduled to begin at 5 p.m. Friday, the fair will be located at the American Airlines hangar just east of Rogall Drive in Metropolitan Airport.

Planned for the fair, scheduled to run for three days this weekend, are such events as barrel racing on horses, carnival-type games and a baby judging contest.

No admission will be charged for the fair and prizes will be nominal. Proceeds from the event will help to finance the restoration of old Fort Wayne in Detroit.

On sale during the fair will be jackets, American Airlines flight bags and other assorted items.

The fair is scheduled to run from 5 to 9 p.m. Friday, from 12-9 p.m. Saturday and from 12 p.m. as long as the crowds stay on Sunday. All area residents are welcomed.

Parking will be on the pad to the north of the American Airlines hangar in the airport.

Walls serves as magistrate

Charles Walls, administrator of the 34th District Court serving the cities of Belleville and Romulus as well as the townships of Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren, has taken on new duties.

The 7-year administrator has been named Magistrate of the Court by Judges James B. Stone and Henry Zaborowski.

Walls is the first magistrate appointed in a district court in Wayne County after courts received permission to make the appointments in April from the Michigan State Legislature.

As his duties, Walls will accept guilty pleas on traffic offenses which cannot be handled by the court's violations bureau, will set bond at the time of a person's arraignment and will issue search warrants

Mahalak eyes 7th term

The incumbent state representative from Michigan's 38th district has filed for his seventh consecutive term in office.

Rep. Edward E. Mahalak, a Democrat, will seek the nomination in the September primary for the district which serves Romulus, Huron Township, portions of Wayne and of Monroe County.

"I bring into this campaign a record of supporting legislation which is of interest and benefit to the people of the 38th District," Mahalak said. "I want to continue to serve the people in the district by working for a government of good laws and not higher taxes."

Mahalak has served in the Legislature from 1965 to 1976 after being elected to the state lower house in 1964. He is a former justice of the peace from Romulus and currently serves as chairman of two Michigan House Appropriations Committee subcommittees.

In addition, he holds posts on the Safety, Defense and State Police and Veterans and Military Affairs committees as well as serving on a third appropriations subcommittee dealing with corrections.

During his 11 years in office, Mahalak served on such committees as judiciary, drainage, state prisons, public safety, public utilities, consumers and agriculture, roads and bridges and state affairs.

He also served on special committees for refurbishing the State House floor, study of nursing homes, youth, study of the Wayne County Jail and currently rail reorganization.

During his time in the Legislature, he served as chairman of the Military and Veterans Affairs Committee for eight years and as vice-chairman for two years. Mahalak and his wife, live in Romulus. He is the father of one girl, Denise, a son Gregory and has a daughter-in-law, Paulette.

A veteran of the U.S. Army Air Corps during World War II, Mahalak is a member of St. Alloysius Church, the Veterans for Foreign Wars, the Polish Legion of American Veterans and the Romulus Kiwanis Club.

Eyes 2nd county term

Harris seeks re-election

The Wayne County Commissioner from the 26th District, which includes Romulus, will seek re-election as a Democrat this year.

Edgar L. Harris, a 3-year veteran of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, said he will seek another term in office.

"I believe that in the last two years, plus, I have helped to make Wayne County more secure in terms of businesses threatening to move from the area," Harris said. "Also, I think my experience as chairman of the Public Works Committee gives me the background for continued effective leadership on economic matters in the future."

Harris was first appointed to the board in December 1973 to fill an unexpired term. He was elected to his first full term in November 1974.

Presently on the board of commissioners, he is vice-chairman of the Public Works Committee and is a member of the county's Ways and Means Committee. He has served on a sub-committee appointed to recommend another public use for the former County Child Development Center and is a member of the county Board of Health.

In addition, Harris serves on the County Industrial and Commercial Development Advisory Council, which he was instrumental in forming.

Last year the full board allocated $35,000 for funding and organization of the committee to promote development which would improve employment and attract business and industry to the county.

"The goals of the committee are to attract new businesses and to maintain the business here that already exists," Harris said. "The council is now all the more significant because chambers of commerce and businesses throughout the county have been forced to cut way back in efforts to attract businesses because of the current economic slump."

Men vs. women

Officials of the Romulus City Hall will play their part in the first annual Romulus Muscular Dystrophy Softball Game tonight.

It will be the "men versus the women" on the diamond at Elmer Johnson Park starting at 7:30 with the secretaries and clerks from the City Hall offices standing their elected and appointed bosses.

Though there will be no admission charge for the game, there will be a request for a donation toward the annual Muscular Dystrophy Foundation fund collection drive.

Funds collected as part of the charity ballgame will be used to finance research into the crippling disease.

Complaints of car misuse

Kelley won't investigate

Although citizens have complained in public about the alleged misuse of city owned vehicles by public officials, the Michigan Attorney General's Office has informed Romulus Treasurer John B. Lewkowicz that no investigation is being made into the complaints.

Lewkowicz sought an appointment with an official of the attorney general's office following citizens' complaints May 4 that Mayor James C. Stewart had been using the city-owned car assigned to him for personal use after city business hours.

Don Voight complained at the council meeting that Stewart's vehicle had been seen in places as far away as Briarwood Mall in Ann Arbor on a Saturday, and that by his estimate the mayor had averaged nearly 1,400 miles per month of driving during his first months in office while the same vehicle, which was utilized by the mayor, clerk and treasurer in 1975, averaged just over 500 miles per month.

Lewkowicz had asked the attorney general to examine the charges in relation to city charter provisions which prohibit the use of city-owned property for private purposes. However, the treasurer was informed that the attorney general's office would take no action on the matter.

"I was told the case wasn't one contemplated for action," Lewkowicz said. "But to ensure that the vehicle isn't abused as has been alleged, I've been offered some suggestions on means to account for its use."

"I intend to implement those changes immediately."

Lewkowicz added that although the vehicle was assigned to his use for city business during the past two years, he never had taken advantage of its availability.

"I've always used my personal car for city business, and don't even charge the city for mileage," Lewkowicz said. "To carry the vehicle's use a step further, and take advantage of it for personal purposes is, in my opinion, a misuse of the public's trust."

Barr calls for 'cooperation'

Jail gets 'go ahead' for construction

A "full-speed-ahead" signal for building a new county jail facility in Detroit has been endorsed by the Public Works Committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

John Barr, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, outlined a procedure and called for "cooperation and cohesion in order to carry out the mandate of the voters of the county."

"The Board of Commissioners is ready to deal with jail construction without restructuring our steps of responsibility," Barr said. "Naturally, consideration will be given to input from all appropriate outside sources. We will give full hearing to these suggestions."

"Meetings dealing with the progress of the jail construction will be open to the public as usual and regular reports will be made to all appropriate agencies," he added.

Those present for the conference besides members of the Public Works Committee included Ted Mrozowski, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Auditors; Corporation Counsel Aloysius Suchy and his chief assistant, George Cross; Edward Bobowski, fiscal advisor to the Board of Commissioners; Mrs. Jarrette Simmons, vice-chairman of the Board of Commissioners, and Commissioner Edward Michalski, chairman of the Public Safety and Judiciary Committee.

Barr said he had discussed the meeting with Sheriff William Lucas and that Lucas had agreed to cooperate.

The action by the Board of Commissioners follows approval on May 18 of a one-half mill annual special assessment on all property for five years in order to provide funds for jail construction. Barr said with the millage revenues, the county could anticipate receiving sufficient sums in time to pay for construction as it is completed.

He predicted that the passage of the millage "will put a new light on the speed with which matters will proceed through the court" despite a suit filed May 14 in Wayne County Circuit Court. That suit claims cells are not designed large enough to meet the building code and that other interior facilities are not adequate.

"These are matters that can be determined later and need not impair proceeding immediately," he added.

M. H. Ashley, building superintendent, reported that his office is requesting amendments to an agreement between the county Board of Auditors and the architectural group of Giffels-Sims-Shorter, which has done schematic design for the new jail facility.

At the urging of Commissioner Edward Harris (D-Taylor), the Public Works Committee will meet at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow to review recommendations regarding the amendments. If these are found acceptable, the full Board of Commissioners will be asked to approve them.

Ashley forecast that within nine months after the Board of Commissioners acts, the first groundbreaking on the jail site on Macomb between Beaubien and St. Antoine will take place.

The Giffels-Sims-Shorter group has forecasted that 16 months after the groundbreaking, the jail will house 90 occupants. Overall construction time is 33 months but cells for 400 inmates will be ready within 27 months, the architectural team predicted.

MSU Glee club serenades coed

The traditional May Morning Sing ceremony on the Michigan State University campus began when The Men's Glee Club serenaded 81 surprised freshmen and junior and senior students who were tapped for the distinguished honoraries, Tower Guard and Mortar Board.

Sharon Petrasky, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Petrasky, 4529 Harmony Lane, Belleville, was among the 81 honored April 30. A 1975 graduate of Belleville High School, she is a freshman.

Roommates and friends had been alerted and were responsible for waking the new members at daybreak and delivering them for the 7 a.m. ceremony at Beaumont Tower where many of their parents were waiting.

Tower Guard began in 1935 to stimulate scholarship and service, particularly in the area of aiding handicapped students. Women are selected on the basis of high academic achievement, good character and a willingness to serve.

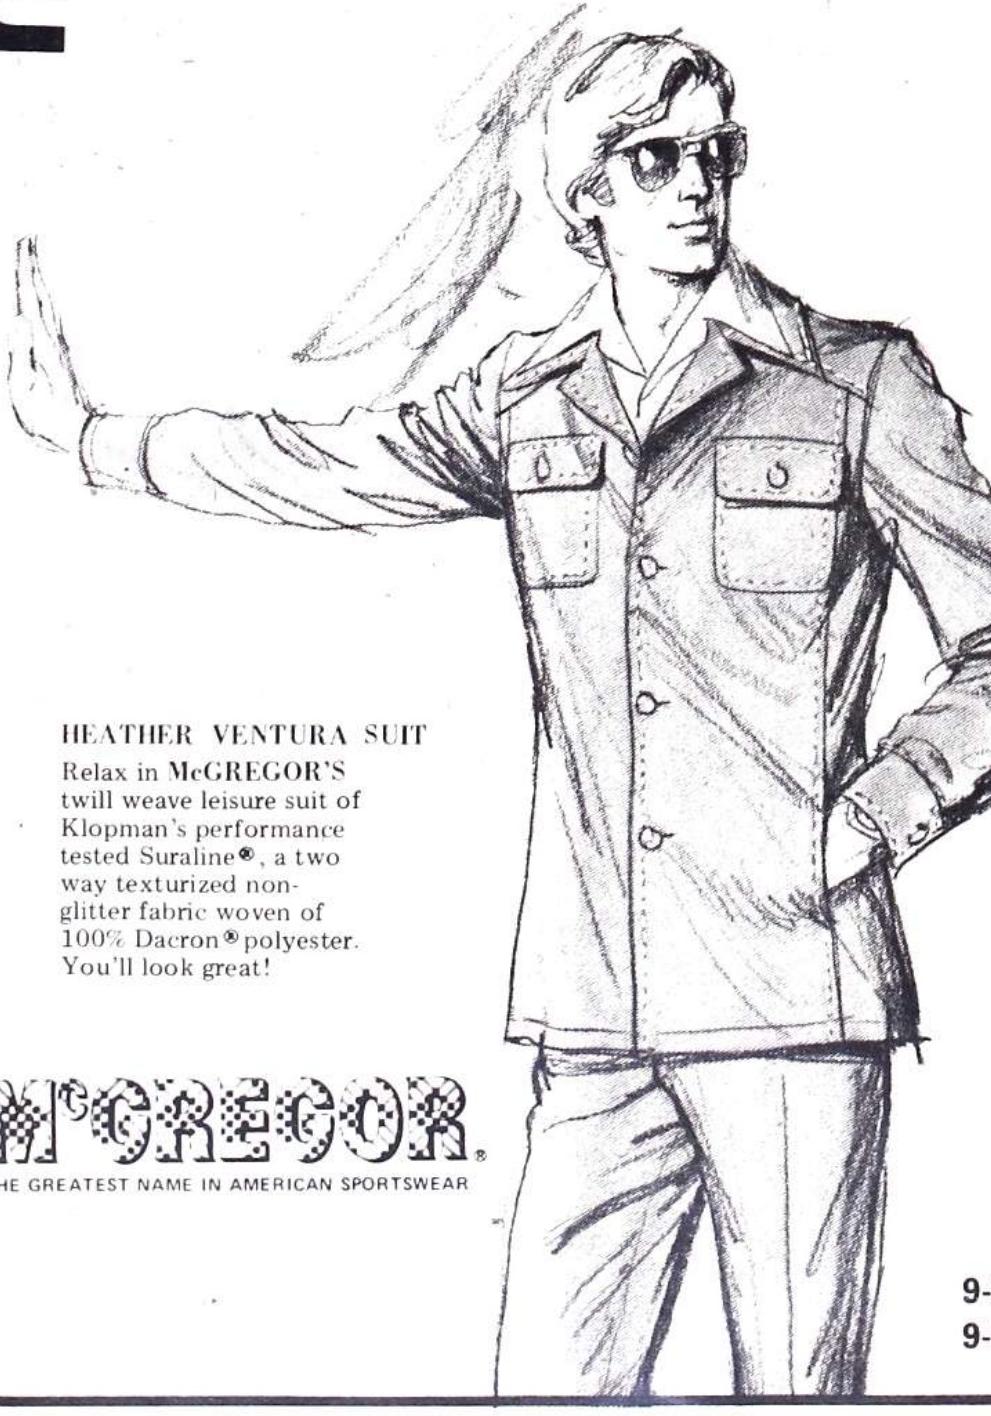

Founded in 1918, Mortar Board selects people who are committed to the ideals of scholarship, leadership and service to the community.

Students at EMU benefitBelleville woman plans balanced meals

Steak? Shrimp? A crisp summer salad or fresh fruit? Choosing a well-balanced menu, featuring selections such as these, is the responsibility of Margaret Brown.

She's the head dietician at Eastern Michigan University (EMU) and she determines the diets of the some 3,200 students who reside in University dormitories.

Using a sophisticated "cycle system" whereby certain foods are chosen for the most appropriate seasons, Mrs. Brown figures out a menu, a daily diet which offers EMU students a choice of several items at each meal.

"I think the students have a pretty good selection," she said. "I have gone through the menu and figured out each item as far as calcium, protein and nutrients are concerned. A well-balanced diet is there if the students choose the appropriate foods."

Clown visits eatery

A special appearance by Ronald McDonald marked the recent grand opening of the new McDonald's Restaurant in Van Buren Township.

The fast food chain's well known clown was joined by Belleville Mayor Justine Emerson, Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer and restaurant manager Dane Gamble.

A flag-raising ceremony was conducted by Girl Scout Troop 278 of St. Anthony's Church, Belleville, and an official donation to FISH, a church organization, was made.

A special drawing also marked the grand opening, with prizes of a 10-foot Hobie sailboat, water skis, bicycle, fishing outfit, three Ronald McDonald watches and several McDonald's gift certificates.

Mayors, editors seek donations

For the past two years a bunch of good "skates" have gone to bat for the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America.

Picture, if you will, a city of official strapping on or lacing up roller skates and, on unsteady pins, trying to skate around an arena for as many hours as his wind and rubbery legs can accept, all the time raising money from people who have pledged to support him.

That's the way it was in 1974 and 1975 at Yack Recreation Center in Wyandotte, where more than $13,000 was realized through the efforts of several Downriver mayors and other participants.

This year this brainchild of Wyandotte Mayor William Sullivan has been broadened to include many more municipal officials from the Downriver area as well as western Wayne County. The mayor also is shooting for a Bicentennial goal of $17,776.

The list of skaters has been fortified this year by the likes of two state lawmakers, three radio and television personalities, representatives from several service clubs and, lo and behold, four Panax newspaper editors.

Yours truly has volunteered along with Jim O'Toole, editor of The Mellus Newspapers; Don Davenport, editor of the News-Herald Newspapers, and Gary Farrugia, editor of the Dearborn Press.

Now, I don't want to take a thing away from the efforts of you municipal, state and service club officials, but we newspaper guys already have started a personal war to see which one of us our readers will select as the winner.

To spice things up, Mayor Sullivan has sent invitations this year to Romulus Mayor James Stewart, Westland Mayor Thomas Taylor and Wayne Mayor Paul Lada. If these esteemed gentlemen accept Sullivan's challenge, they will attempt to secure as many pledges as they can from their friends and foes and relatives and constituents.

An interesting aspect of the benefit skate-a-thon could be an honest-to-goodness sibling rivalry among two mayors. If Mayor Paul Lada accepts, he'll square off against brother Frank, mayor of Allen Park, whose exploits on skates have become legendary. Other communities sending representatives are Brownstown Township, Ecorse, Flat Rock, Gibraltar, Grosse Ile, Lincoln Park, Melvindale, Southgate, Taylor, Trenton and Wyandotte.

Several local musical groups will offer their services free to soothe bruised egos or what have you. They include Winding Road, Ginger Brandy, Wheatstone Bridge, The Dance Hall and John Kukla and Eric.

The skate-a-thon will begin Tuesday and run continuously through Thursday. Next Wednesday at 7 p.m. has been designated as mayor's night when anything and everything usually does happen. It is not unusual to see several contestants gingerly skating around the rink with pillows tied to their posteriors.

Because some dignitaries spent more time on the floor than they did on their feet the previous two times, Sullivan seriously considered changing the format to have the combatants collect pledges for each time they bit the dust.

Of course, I don't know why I'm finding all this so, humorous. I haven't been on skates since I was a kid, and if I remember, I couldn't stand up them to save my ... er ... soul. At any rate Messers O'Toole and Davenport (whose ages definitely have to be working against them), Farrugia, who is so young it's sickening, and yours truly, who can't play basketball with his kids for more than five minutes without passing out, are going to bump heads — erase that — engage in a little friendly competition to see how many and how substantially our readers will back us up with donations.

We strictly are looking for sponsoring pledges. Because of the nature of our business (late hours and all), we won't be able to skate too many hours.

So for those Western Wayne County residents who would like to sponsor me, please donate what you can and send it in my name to Wyandotte City Hall, 3131 Biddle Ave., Wyandotte, 48192, care of Colleen Helder.

Mayor Sullivan is trying to be as fair as he can about this skating business. Why, he has even offered to arrange practice sessions for those of us who think they need them. He guarantees the mayors that it's a lot more fun skating for charity than writing proclamations.

He's right. The accent is on fun and there really is only one winner — the muscular dystrophy associations. And that's a good feeling all the way down to your roller skates.

Labor leader urges true tax reform

To the Editor:

As with motherhood, everyone is for tax reform. Unfortunately, with each passing year, tax reform at the federal level has resulted in individual Americans carrying more of the tax burden while less is shouldered by the large corporations and the wealthy.

Once again the U. S. Senate is wrestling with a tax "reform" bill that offered modest reform when it was adopted by the House of Representatives last December. After several weeks of Senate committee changes, the bill has been further weakened.

There is still a chance of reform. Several senators have announced that they intend to offer on the Senate floor five key reform amendments that deserve the support of all Americans. Even if you aren't happy about the way Washington spends your money, you have the right to insist that each of us pay our fair share, and not someone else's share as well.

The major amendments that deserve support — and maybe a word of encouragement to Senators Philip Hart and Robert Griffin are:

1: An amendment to repeal the deferral of taxes on the profits of U. S. multinational companies abroad. Under present law, these firms can keep their foreign profits untaxed as long as the money remains abroad. Thus the companies use these funds to expand their operations abroad instead of here. This "subsidy" in the law has cost millions of dollars in U. S. taxes and hundreds of thousands of jobs. Only full repeal can end this loophole.

2: An amendment to reform the foreign tax credit now used by U. S. multinational corporations. This "subsidy" also costs taxes and jobs. U. S. companies abroad can now credit on a dollar for dollar basis taxes paid abroad against their profits. In the U. S., the company can only deduct taxes paid to the state, a far less favorable tax break. Senator Vance Hartke will also seek to curb this abuse through floor amendment.

3: An amendment to restore the House-passed limitation on tax shelters. The Senate committee weakened this provision. The House-passed bill would limit the opportunities for doctors, dentists, executives and other high income persons from using "paper" losses in real estate, leasing, movies and sport franchises to avoid taxes on their regular income.

4: An amendment to restore the House-passed changes in the minimum tax. This provision is a catch-all that is designed to extract a minimum amount of tax money from the wealthy who use various tax gimmicks to avoid the normal rules of taxation. Unless the House-passed measure is restored, the loophole will remain large, considerable revenue will be lost, and many Americans making more than $200,000 per year will pay no taxes.

5: An amendment to restrict DISC. This export subsidy to U. S. companies has provided virtually no jobs at a cost of $1.5 billion per year. It should be ended. An amendment will be offered to allow companies to escape half of the taxes on their export income only if they increase their exports over the average of the last three years.

These amendments will be the major thrust of tax reformers on the Senate floor. Together they will raise millions of dollars, they will help save U. S. jobs and they will help the economy recover.

The multinational companies and lobbyists for the rich and influential are already busy at work on the bill seeking to keep their loopholes and to open more. Only an outpouring of letters demanding these specific loophole closing amendments will bring to U. S. senators the message that tax reform is still a major goal of all Americans.

We would urge every Michigan citizen who is interested in federal tax justice to contact our U. S. senators and ask them to cast their vote for true tax reform.

As we see it

Open meetings bill needs quick action

People who think public business should be conducted in public have a unique opportunity to strike a blow for good government, but they must move quickly before the State Legislature recesses for the summer.

Despite hours of debate and fighting off amendments by the City of Detroit, and organizations representing counties, townships, school boards and others who wish to weaken it, the House Towns and Counties Committee last week approved Senate Bill 920, a bill to open public meetings to the public.

State Rep. Tom Brown, of Westland, committee chairman, and others deserve credit for their perseverance and hard work in guiding the bill out of committee and before the full House.

The proposed law, requires that meetings of public bodies, such as school boards, township boards, city councils and county commissions, be conducted in public with few exceptions. The exceptions would be for disciplining personnel or students, unless the person asks for a public meeting; for labor strategy and collective bargaining sessions, and for purchase of property, but only until options are signed.

The bill provides a penalty up to $1,000 for the first conviction of intentional disobedience and (possible) removal from office for a second conviction.

Many public bodies already conduct most of their meetings openly. These groups should have no objection to the proposal. Others think it advantageous to keep the public in the dark about part of their activities. These are the groups that might feel restricted under the proposal.

Complete openness in government works well in Florida, Tennessee, Arkansas and other places where it is now in force. It will work well in Michigan, if it becomes law.

To help openness become law, to gain access to public meetings for public benefit, contact your representative today by mail or phone. Ask that he support without amendment SB 920, the number of the bill that will bring more openness to government.

Readers are invited to send their opinions on events of public interest to the editor of The Enterprise-Roman, 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne, 48184. Each letter must include the writer's signature, address and telephone numbers. Letters which do not include the above criteria will not be published.

Names will be withheld from letters to be published only for good reasons. Those reasons must be included on the letter. The request "do not use my name" is not enough and those letters will be published with names. The editor reserves the right to edit and condense letters.

On the Brighter Side

'Incurable optimist' is back

"A merry heart doeth good like a medicine," says the book of Proverbs.

And if ever there was a time that our spirits needed to be lifted, it is now. That's why I'm thankful to Editor Bob Cochrane for the opportunity to write this column. I hope to bring a little bit of sunshine and love and laughter into your life as you read this column regularly.

In a way, it's a "homecoming" to the Eagle and Enterprise-Roman Newspapers for me after an absence of several years. I wrote a regular weekly column from 1966 through 1970 and appreciate the many fine comments sent my way. (There were a few of the other kind, but I'm a positive thinker.)

Former Eagle editor Roger Turner, now lounging on Florida golf courses, gave me my first opportunity to write and Bob McClellan later hired me fulltime where I met most of the local celebrities. And a few of the others. Now Bob Cochrane is giving me the opportunity - and I appreciate it very much.

I have a tickle, a funny kind of tickle, like the kind you get deep in your throat that makes you cough automatically. It's like an itch that needs scratching or a pebble in your shoe that hurts until you remove it. I speak of this incurable, inspirational creative urge to be a good writer.

There's a certain majestic quality about fine writing that is a symphony of the soul. It's as indescribable as a glorious sunrise, as comforting as a hearty meal to a hungry lad and as satisfying as home-made cherry pie. Why do I want to write? Well, "A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver," the Bible says, and I want to speak a word to help lift heavy hearts in this world today.

With so many down-trodden, trouble-weary and depressed souls today, I hope by spreading a word of cheer, humor and laughter to bring a ray of sunshine into someone's life. I may be just a voice "crying in the wilderness," but, as the saying goes: "If each one would light just one little candle, what a bright world this would be."

Since I know so very many of you on a first-name basis around Wayne, Westland Canton and Belleville, I hope you'll write me and give me your honest comments, suggestions and remarks.

I hope we can make it a two-way street with my writing being inspired by what is on your mind and heart that you share with me by letter.

I don't expect you to—always agree. But honest now, you can't be right all the time, can you? You know, you that think you're always right, really upset us that are. Speaking of disagreeing, we can disagree but we don't have to be disagreeable. One thing you'll notice about me is that I do a lot of writing with "tongue-in-cheek" and that there are three things I love most of all in life.

First of all, I love Jesus Christ who has saved my soul and given me a happy, joyous outlook on life. Then come food and laughter as my second and third choices, not necessarily in that order. Most of all, though, I want to help people and I welcome your letters and questions. I don't have all the answers, but I serve a God who does.

I want to help everyone I can and will work toward that goal, but even then, not everyone understands or tries to work together. Some people would rather criticize those who want to help than those who do.

Dem frontrunner uses Nixon 'play book'

The strategy of Richard M. Carter

By PATRICK J. BUCHANAN
New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON — George McGovern said it first, back about the time of the Iowa caucuses. Jimmy Carter, he volunteered, is "our Nixon." Most writers dismissed the remark as the sour grapes of yesterday's champion. But the unfolding calendar has shown that George McGovern is not an unperceptive man. For the Carter "game plan" for the primaries of 1976 could have been lifted out of the Nixon play book of 1968.

Just as Richard Nixon offered his party, first and foremost, the prospect of unity and victory following the Goldwater defeat, so Jimmy Carter is, offering the Democrats unity in November and the White House in January, following the bloody and divisive McGovern defeat in 1972.

Like Nixon, who kept consciously to starboard of the Rockefeller-

Romney liberals, and several degrees off the port bow of Ronald Reagan, Jimmy Carter has maintained a steady course to the left of Jackson-Wallace and to the right of Udall-Church. Like the "centrist" Nixon, Jimmy Carter has thus become automatic beneficiary of defections from either wing of his party.

Like Nixon, Carter is aware that his hopes of victory in the fall require that he maintain flexibility, keep his options open, and not allow the party True Believers to freeze him into the ice of their own ideology. Nixon subordinated issues to the personal qualifications of experience and competence. Carter subordinates issues to the personality traits, decency and in-

In the fall of 1968, control of

Nixon's fortunes was consolidated by technocrats of no fixed philosophy, individuals who prided themselves upon their "pragmatism" and disparaged the issues men of the campaign as "the creative types."

The allegiance of Robert Haldeman and John Ehrlichman in 1968 was less to any political vision, program, or philosophy than to a simple majority of electoral votes. Reporters coming off the Carter campaign are penning similar assessments of All the Candidate's Men.

(The other day, speaking to the AFL-CIO in Cincinnati, Carter launched into a peroration, repeating the refrain, "I see an America here..." which might have been lifted wholesale from the Nixon acceptance speech of 1968.)

Oddly enough, just as the gifted conservative Richard Whalen bolted the Nixon encampment at Mission Bay Calif., so Robert Shrum, Lindsay liberal, walked out of Carter's speechwriting shop after less than a fortnight of service, complaining, "I am not sure what you (Carter) truly believe in other than yourself."

Unlike Whalen, who went quietly, Shrum blubbered his disillusionment on the shoulders of the national press.

He depicts Carter as a calculating operator who canceled a political strike on Philadelphia Mayor Frank Rizzo, observing, "We don't want to offend the Nixon voters." The incident calls to mind candidate Nixon striking from speech drafts negative references to LBJ with the observation that we will need the Johnson Democrats

November 5. The Republican candidate of 1968 had the ability to cut, with a fine blade, through the fog of emotion surrounding an issue, and reduce it to the political payoff. Observe Jimmy Carter counseling his staff on how to handle the Middle East:

"We have to be cautious. We don't want to offend anybody. I don't want statements on the Middle East or Lebanon. Jackson has all the Jews anyway. It doesn't matter how far I go. I don't get four percent of the Jewish vote anyway, so forget it. We got the Christians."

The similarity is not coincidental. For a quarter of a century, the press knew that behind the Cheshire cat grin of Nixon, there was running a fearfully complex piece of political machinery. The smiles of Jimmy Carter, those unctuous phrases about truthfulness and trust, we know now, tell us little of the man.

When an aide informed the apostle of love that a politician was seeking one last concession before endorsement, Carter dispatched the aide to tell the greedy pol, "He can kiss my...and you can tell him I said so."

Liberal Democrats find comparisons between Carter and Nixon frightening. This writer does not. A certain toughness, deviousness, flexibility and capacity for maneuver are not attributes to be disparaged in a Chief Executive. Indeed, it is the hidden attributes of Jimmy Carter — rather than the public persona — that convince me that Stop-Carter crowds will be no more successful in Madison Square Garden than was the Stop-Nixon coalition in Miami Beach.

Ford IRS probe scored as 'politically inspired'

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

Washington — The Ford administration's Internal Revenue Service (IRS), already under recent attack by critics in Congress, is encountering mounting anger and fury from business leaders in 1,200 American corporations with assets of $250 million who have been subjected since early April to a wide-ranging IRS investigation for corporate slush funds and kickbacks.

Key business executives and corporate counsels already interviewed by IRS agents have privately denounced the probe as "politically inspired" and claim that questions being asked amount to a "star chamber inquisition."

The anger of business leaders became known here after this correspondent obtained exclusively a copy of IRS Directive No. 68 of April 7, 1976, approved by IRS Commissioner Donald Alexander and sent to all field offices in the nation by Acting Assistant Commissioner (Compliance) E. P. Trainor and John L. Wedrick Jr., director of the IRS audit division. Interviews by telephone conducted by this correspondent with a half dozen business executives already subjected to the IRS probe (interrogation techniques were spelled out in the directive) reveal as uniform agreement that "the probe is operating on the presumption of guilt with the burden of proving innocence left to the business executive."

Contained in IRS Directive No. 68 are 11 specific questions, which business executives contend cannot be answered since they are "so lacking in specifics and so sweeping in their terminology." Business executives, who would talk on the telephone only if not identified by name or company, angrily insist that the IRS investigation amounts to an "inquisition" that is "unprecedented."

The detailed instructions in Directive No. 68 require IRS field agents to interview and "ask a minimum of 11 specific questions of selected corporate officials, key employees and the managing partner of the corporation's accounting firm who determines the scope of the firm's audit and the type of audit opinion to be rendered. Alexander pointed out that the IRS large case program involves audits of about 1,200 corporations each of whose gross assets exceed $250 million.

"All responses to questions," the directive adds, "must be in writing and signed by the individual being questioned in either affidavit form or as a written declaration made under the penalties of perjury. If the individual refuses to answer, an IRS summons will be issued, Alexander stated. If there is an indication that the answers are false, the matter will be immediately referred to the IRS Intelligence Division for appropriate criminal action."

Privately, IRS field agents compelled to conduct the current investigation are reported "appalled" at what Washington is demanding in terms of the questions and techniques. Corporation lawyers, moreover, are baffled over the IRS insistence that they cannot be present during interrogation sessions, but an executive is permitted to have his private attorney.

"How can an executive," one corporate counsel pointed out, "answer sweeping and unspecific questions about the operations of a corporation if the counsel is not permitted to be present? And how does the IRS expect an individual company executive to remember thousands of details involving hundreds of individuals each day based on questions that are so lacking in specific detail?

The IRS directive concedes, however, "the very difficult task of discovering 'slush funds' in corporate examinations" but urges its field agents to exercise "imaginative audit investigative techniques."

"Common characteristics in most schemes are the involvement of top level corporate officers and the use of 'slush funds' primarily but not limited to foreign subsidiaries, foreign bank accounts, foreign affiliates, foreign intermediaries, or unrelated foreign entities," according to the directive.

Field agents are provided 11 specific instructions for interviewing, ranging from top executives currently employed by a corporation to "interviewing corporate executives who have been dismissed or changed jobs." Business executives believe that given the highly competitive nature of corporate life today fired or bitter former executives could provide the IRS with an unprecedented opportunity for perjured testimony.

The IRS directive also instructs agents to interview security officers of companies and corporate airplane pilots, determine the nature of foreign trips by top executives, trace contractual arrangements with foreign individuals or entities, and examine foreign cables to identify diversion of funds transactions.

Business executives point out that the IRS probe comes in the wake of widespread press coverage of alleged bribes and kickback payments involving multinational corporations like Lockheed Aircraft to foreign political leaders.

However, these same executives contend that the IRS investigation is "politically inspired because of Watergate." They cite, for example, the efforts of the Ford administration to prevent the Democrats from tying the administration to illegal corporate campaign contributions and past abuses of the IRS.

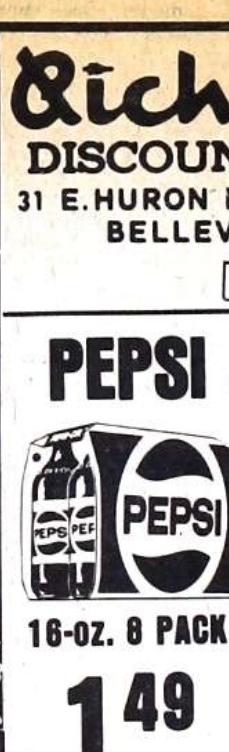

In fact, a week after Directive No. 68 was sent to all field offices in the United States, the Ford administration publicly cleared IRS Commissioner Donald Alexander of official misconduct on April 13, the day before the Senate Finance Committee held hearings on S2342, the Federal Taxpayers Bill of Rights sponsored by leading Democratic liberals who charged major repeated abuses of taxpayers by the IRS.

Business executives interviewed maintain that the Democrats are using the double-edged political issue of IRS abuse, tying it to the Ford administration and Watergate, while insisting that the White House is the "captive of American corporations." As a consequence, maintains one executive, "this campaign by the IRS is an attempt to prove that the Ford administration is cleaning up

Action sought on lake levels

WASHINGTON — The 61-member bipartisan Conference of Great Lakes Congressmen have asked President Ford to try to get Canadian and American members of the International Joint Commission (IJC) moving on a specific proposal to lower Great Lakes water levels.

This effort was led by Rep. James G. O'Hara, (D-Mich.) the conference chairman. He was joined by all Michigan congressmen with districts bordering on the Great Lakes, as well as by lawmakers from Illinois, Minnesota, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

In a letter to the President last week, the Great Lakes congressmen complained that the International Joint Commission had been sitting for 29 months on a proposal to construct a diversion channel across Squaw Island in the Niagara River.

Unless the IJC gets a move on, the congressmen said, its complex procedures can drag on "for months, even years, before there is any final resolution."

The Niagara River diversion, the lawmakers insisted, could lower the level of Lake Erie by nearly 10 inches and the levels of Lakes Michigan and Huron by more than seven inches. There also would be a proportional lowering of Lake Superior.

Christening prompts family get-together

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

The newest member of the Van Allen family tree — Heather Lee — was christened June 6 at St. Alexis Catholic Church in Willow Run. Her parents, Dennis and Cheryl Van Allen of Belleville, asked their brother and sister, Ron Van Allen and Janet Marion, to serve as their daughter's God-parents.

Heather, who was born April 30 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, is the new sister of Krista who was at the ceremony along with her grandparents, Lulu Krakowiak and Steve Krakowiak and Jeanne and John Van Allen, all of Belleville.

Others at the rite were Janet and Bob Marion and her son, Gregg Worley; Brenda and Don Moore and daughter, Suzi of Lincoln Park and Ron and Caryn Van Allen and his sons, Mark and Robbie of Clarendon Hills, Ill.

Joining the group at the dinner which followed at the Van Allen's Lake Pointe Pass home were friends, Joanne and Jim Safoutin and children, Tara and Ryan of Wayne; Mary Van Valkenburg and daughters, Nikki and Andrea, and the senior Van Valkenburgs — Earl and Eldean of the Ypsilanti area.

With the weather cooperating (for a change) the group was able to enjoy horseshoes, badminton and other outdoor activities. The only sad note injected into the celebration was the fact it would probably be the last family get-together for several years which would include Jeanne and John Van Allen who will soon be moving to a new home near Leesburg, Fla.

THEY'RE MOVING

Another couple with "moving" as their main objective these mid-June days are the Donald C. Dempseys of Denton Road who are busy sorting and packing their belongings for their move to a new home in the Upper Peninsula.

Mrs. Dempsey, who was the widow of the late W. Birk, wishes to say "Auf Wiedersiehn" and thank you to the many friends she has made over the past 37 years in the community. Her husband, who is retired from the Bendix Corp. in management, has lived in the Belleville area for only four years but has made numerous friends who have led to his high opinion of Belleville.

Some very happy news, added during the laborious task of changing

'Liberty Tree' added

Members of the Huron Valley Garden Club used the proceeds from their April garden sale to purchase several trees for the area. The first, a crimson king maple, has been planted as a "Liberty Tree" in the vicinity of the water tower at the new Belleville Bicentennial Park. Purchased from Bentley's Nursery (which sent Don Beyer and Glenn Culpetter (at right) to deliver and plant the tree) the placement was witnessed by Mrs. William Hennells, club president (from left); Mrs. Paul Holman, Bicentennial chairman, and Mrs. Melvin Budd, conservation chairman. Five white crabapple trees also were donated and planted in the Van Buren Township Park.

HV Garden Club officers installed at final co-op luncheon meeting

The June 7 meeting of the Huron Valley Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. Thurston Jahr of Harmony Lane. The group met at 12 noon for a cooperative salad and dessert luncheon. Twenty-one members attended and took part in the business meeting conducted by Mrs. William Hennells, president.

Among the club's most recent activities was the donation and planting of a "Liberty Tree" (a crimson king maple) in the area of the water tower in the new Belleville Bicentennial Park. Five white crabapple trees also were presented to the Van Buren Township and planted in Van Buren Park.

The city planter at Liberty and Main Streets has been filled with a variety of red, white and blue flowers by the club's civic committee members, Mrs. James Kause, Mrs. Helen White and Mrs. Jahr.

Two standing metal baskets were filled with flowers from the gardens of club members for the annual Belleville High School commencement exercises at Bowen Field House. The containers were donated by Homer Morris of Coy Kendall Florists.

Officers for the 1976-77 club year were installed by past-president Mrs. Melvin Budd who presented the outgoing leaders with pink "Happiness" petunias and the incoming group with petunia buds.

Taking the gavel for the ensuing year will be Mrs. D.W. Blend; her fellow officers being Mrs. Kause, vice-president; Mrs. W. Harold Roberts, recording secretary; Mrs.

John MacDermid, treasurer, and Mrs. Dale Kaulitz, corresponding secretary.

Carousel Nursery taking applications

A trip to the Detroit Zoo was enjoyed by the 3 and 4-year-olds from the Carousel Co-Op Nursery who had a chance to attend the monkey show and view the many animals they had been learning about that week in class.

Graduation for 4 and 5-year-olds who will attend kindergarten in the fall was another highlight for the students with 23 receiving their "diplomas." The children entertained their parents with singing and acting and later were presented with cupcakes inscribed with their names. Cake and punch followed the ceremony.

The Carousel Co-Op Nursery meets at the United Presbyterian Church at 11900 Belleville Road. Four classes are held weekly—A Monday and Wednesday group which meets 9:15 to 11:30 a.m. and another from 1 to 3 p.m. the same afternoons. The same hour sessions are also held on Tuesday and Thursdays, children attending just two days each week.

Applications for the fall session are now available. Please call Patti Merritt at 699-7301 to enroll.

Relatives and friends arrived from Fowlerville, Detroit, Wyandotte, Lincoln Park, Farmington, Dearborn, Dundee, Ann Arbor and neighboring cities to greet the young couple who have set an Aug. 14 wedding date in Fowlerville.

Using a different method of awarding prizes, the hostesses had the bride-elect open her gifts and as they were acknowledged, those with even numbers on their nameplates received potted geraniums while those with uneven numbers got to choose their own prize. For those who had taken the time to jot down their favorite recipe, five winners were drawn and awarded Liberty bell banks containing Bicentennial coins.

For the occasion, a special bridal table was set up for the honored pair; their parents, the John Gasidlos of Romulus and the Andy Linmans of Fowlerville; the bride-to-be's grandfather, Andy Linman Sr., and her uncle and aunt, Les and Ruth Purslow, all of Fowlerville, and the prospective bridegroom's Godmother, Jean Uchman.

Those assisting with the presents were several of the future bridal party, Sally Kormos, Jill Linman and Kathy Lancer as well as Kris and Albie Kormos, child attendants, who had the fun of pulling the names of prize winners.

Cheryl Kormos decorated the bridal parasol in mint green and white satin streamers and daisies and also decorated the special shower cake which served as focal point at the buffet table.

The future bridegroom's attendants gave a helping hand in the cocktail department while Harry Gasidlo, Stan Uchman and Landy Box saw to the bartending detail.

New committees drafted by Huron Valley GS Council

Adult and girl delegates representing the seven area associations of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council recently voted to establish two policy review committees.

At the meeting held in the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth, the 87 representatives created a committee to review the by-laws of the organization which provides Girl Scouting to some 17,000 girls each year in Livingston, Washtenaw, Western Wayne and Northern Monroe counties. A committee to review personnel practices was also set up at the meeting.

Both of the new committees are to be comprised of nine members, seven elected by the area associations and two appointed by the council president. In a third resolution adopted today, the delegates added the category of "New Business" to the agenda of the council annual meeting to be held in the spring of 1977.

Conducting the meeting was Mrs. Frances Bauer of Plymouth, newly elected president of the council. The adopted resolutions were designed to increase the participation of the 121 elected delegates in the policy giving direction to the board of directors as they frame policies for organization, according to Mrs. Bauer.

Elected to serve on the by-law review committee were Joyce Hunt of Eastern Washtenaw, Marjorie Ruppel of Livingston County, Dru Schoch of Ann Arbor, Vicki Hicks of Western Washtenaw, Sally Gabany of Wayne-Westland, Jill Karolyi of Southern Wayne and JoAnn Morse of Plymouth-Northville.

Area association representatives elected to the personnel policy manual review committee were Sonya Fogel of Eastern Washtenaw; Pat Shiner of Livingston County; Luella Collicott of Ann Arbor; Joyce Lambley of Southern Wayne; Dot Clary of Western Washtenaw; Eileen Peppeler of Wayne-Westland and Martha Bently of Plymouth Northville.

Elwell kids in spotlight

The Elwell Entertainers under the direction of Ann O'Beay, vocal music teacher, ventured to the Briarwood Mall recently to perform in the recessed entertainment center. After singing for the Belleville Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs, at the Van Buren Convalescent Center, during the Christmas parade and the Old-fashioned Country Fair and at other local activities, the group finally made it outside the confines of Belleville. The Entertainers plus two new additions, first grader Wendy Adkins and second grader Chris Danowski, made quite a hit at the shopping center. Wendy sang "How Much is that Doggie in the window" and Chris' number was "Animals Crackers in My Soup." The Bicentennial portion of the program included such patriotic numbers as "Yankee Doodle Dandy", "Shenandoah", "Up with People" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Two other featured performers were Chris Batianas as Uncle Sam in "Ode to the Spirit of '76" and Gail Whitt (right) who twirled her baton during "You're a Grand Old Flag."

Floral arranging class set

A flower arranging demonstration will be presented by the Ypsilanti Center of Washtenaw Community College on June 17 from 7:15 - 9:30 p.m.

The lecture and demonstration will focus on artistic arranging of fresh flowers. Basic principles and techniques of floral design will be covered, and various styles of flower arranging displayed. A slide presentation will be used in developing general appreciation for floral design and illustrating current trends. The history of floral design, from its Egyptian beginnings, will be briefly discussed.

During the second session of the program, flower arranging will be demonstrated. Designs applicable for home use and personal creativity will be presented. Basic rules and regulations of floral design will also be included.

Ken Carnes, a manager with Durants Flowers, will conduct the program. Carnes will give suggestions on formal and informal designs and explain how to use materials. He will also answer specific questions about floral design.

The flower arranging program will be held at the Ypsilanti Center, 214 N. Huron. Advance registrations are requested. The center's phone number is 482-2230. There will be a fee of $2.25 for the presentation, but Senior Citizens will be admitted free.

The role of the clergy at time of death

In attempting to console the bereaved, the clergyman can sometimes find himself in seemingly a conflict with the facts of death, as observed by the bereaved.

Statements by a father to his five-year-old child such as "Now, mummy's gone to Heaven" are too complex and yet too simple for the child to accept — especially when the child has seen the tears and expressions of grief of family and friends.

The minister can be of great assistance in defining the DIFFERENCES between the physical (body of the deceased) and the soul (spirit of the deceased). It can be far healthier emotionally to allow the minister (priest or rabbi) to help the family of the deceased as they work openly through their grief than to permit their sadness to be repressed or concealed. The clergymen have been trained to assist in times of stress. Their experiences — drawn from real life-and-death situations — can be invaluable. The many sources of comfort and aid to which they have access may be most beneficial. They are anxious, moreover, to serve their congregations in these hours of grief-counselling.

This is one of a series of brief articles I hope will be helpful. We welcome your questions — in private or publicly through this column.

Sign of our times

The welding class of the vocational department of Van Buren Public Schools constructed a Bicentennial sign which they plan to present to Van Buren Township, the city of Belleville and the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce. It will be erected at the entrance to Van Buren Park (originally Edison Point.) The sign, weighing 250 pounds, is 40 inches in diameter and 1/4 inch thick. The lettering is cut from 1/8 inch steel. The sign is a replica of the seal designed especially for the Bicentennial celebration. Among those who worked on the project were (from left) Randy Reno, Allan Statham and instructor Paul Koval. (Photo courtesy Phyllis Greer.)

College classes 'tour' world

Residents who want to work alone, pursue a challenging topic and earn credit, will find that the College of Lifelong Learning of Wayne State University may have something for them this summer.

Four hours of credit, transferable to the university's College of Liberal Arts, can be earned for four programs on America, Great Britain, the Vatican and Slavic and Eastern Europe.

The first course, "American: America at Sea," will focus on the United States as a sea power and merchant. The class will allow the student to picture America as a prime user and governor of the oceans through poetry, song, fiction, history and painting, relating to the country's use of the seas.

In "Britain and the Commonwealth: Disraeli and Gladstone" the student will study the conflict between the two giants of the English Parliament. The literature, both historical and biographical, about the two former prime ministers offers an insight into both the political and social power in Victorian England.

"European: The Vatican" is a non-sectarian class being offered through the college and studies the ancient seat of the Catholic Church. It deals with the power, influence, history and physical being of the city. The major figures, artistic holdings, historical incidents and relationships, origins, policies and place in the world also will be examined.

The other course being offered is "Slavic and Eastern Europe: The Road to Samarkand", a class which will explore the geography, history, ethnic composition, folklore, and folksong of the belt cities from Astrakhan through Kazakhstan, Turkestan and Tadzhikistan to Tashkent, Bukhara, Samarkand and Alma-Ata.

Students, signed up for one of the classes, need only attend one meeting — at 7 p.m. June 28 — during the quarter at the university's Southfield Center, 25610 W. 11 Mile Road. The alternate meeting date is 7 p.m. June 29 at the Rackham Building, Woodward at Farnsworth.

Picnics, pot-lucks fill local calendars

By Mrs. Joseph Spring
699-4021

Ten members of the B-Z Club from the William Ford Memorial Church in Detroit enjoyed a recent picnic supper, complete with fresh strawberry shortcake, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Robson on Tyler Road.

A friendly neighbor pot luck supper was recently held at the home of Sybil Wilkins of Liberty Street. Present for the meal were Velma Kulzer, Dorothy Westergard, Muriel Bearance, Margaret Saunders and Ruth Miank all of Liberty Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kidwell of Ellen Drive are announcing the birth of their second child, a baby girl, born at Sinai Hospital, Detroit, on June 10, weight 9 lbs. - 3 ozs.

The infant, whose mother is the former Annie Kidwell, has been named Erin Macaulay. She has a little brother, Jason Macaulay, 22-months-old.

Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Kidwell of Romulus and Mrs. Dorothy R. Kellas of Ypsilanti.

Recent guests at the Liberty Street home of Mrs. Muriel Bearance were her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnston of Rohnert Park, Calif. While here they toured many interesting places.

After having been a patient at Beyer Hospital, Ypsilanti, for the past eight days, Henry Clayton was able to return to his Bedell Street home on June 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering of W. Columbia Avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Touse and Mrs. Winifred Gault of Roland Street motored to the Star Commonwealth for Boys at Albion recently to attend the chapel service where the Churchill High School Senior Band gave a concert.

Mrs. Gault's grandson, Mike Lawrence, who plays the tuba, will be leaving soon with the Michigan Youth International Musical Group on a 5-weeks tour of England, Scotland and Wales.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Marshall and daughter, Kathie, of Ridgefield, Conn., have been guests this past week of Mrs. Marshall's mother, Mrs. Muriel Smith of Liberty Street, and other relatives. They were here to attend graduation exercises of Belleville High School. Mrs. Marshall's daughter, Lynn Akans, being one of the group graduating with honors. She also was named D.A.R. Girl for the year.

Mrs. F. E. Burlingame (Esther) of Liberty Street has returned home after having spent the past 10 days visiting nieces and nephews in Milwaukee, Wisc. and attending a family reunion.

Janet Tucholski of Chandler, Ariz. arrived by plane recently to spend some time with her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton of Bedell Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mericle of Denton Road were among the many attending the Annual Spring Festival of the Lancaster Old Car Club, Inc., June 5-6 at the Fairfield County Fairgrounds at Lancaster, Ohio.

Eleven trophies were garnered by members of the K.F.O.C., Int. Seaway Region. The Mericles were awarded a first place trophy for their 1951 Kaiser Traveler in competition. There were over 500 antique cars registered and many were turned away for lack of parking space.

Mrs. Elda Bohl of Robson Road spent Wednesday and enjoyed dinner with her son and family, the Kenneth Griffins of Farmington.

'Musket men' invade village

The flash and fire of antique muzzle-loading weapons will fill the air when Greenfield Village presents its 22nd annual Muzzle Loaders Festival Saturday and Sunday.

During those two days, village visitors will see militiamen recreate frontier life of more than a century ago. Costumed participants, military marching bands, displays, contests and craft demonstrations will be a part of the festival. More than 600 shooters will participate,

Hot Jazz presents Ramblers

The Detroit Hot Jazz Society will present in concert Dave Miller and the Muscat Ramblers Sunday from 3 to 7 p.m. at the Presidential Inn, in Southgate, I-75 at the North Line and Allen Road exit.

Miller, who hails from Grand Rapids, has been delighting Furniture City residents for some eight years, while operating out of the Pantlind Hotel and more recently at the Savory Street.

The group features singer Annie Lowry, who also is an accomplished pianist.

The Detroit Hot Jazz Society, which was formed to promote the enjoyment of live traditional jazz in the Detroit area, began its concert series in March.

Last month six bands had a capacity crowd toe tapping for six hours. The gig raised some $1,000, which was donated to a New Orleans group planning to erect a statue as a tribute to the late Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong.

As for future engagements, the society is working hard to get the Bob Barnard Jazz Band from Australia for July. The September concert apparently is secure with the appearance of Johnny Guarneri and his fabulous piano.

Musical to honor fathers

Fathers will be admitted free when accompanied by a child Sunday to the 11 a.m. or 2 p.m. performances of "SummerSnow", an original musical for children, written by Fred Rogers of TV's "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood".

County to sign lease for rehab center

Officials of Wayne County and the Sacred Heart Rehabilitation Center will sign a $3.8 million 5-year lease next week that will allow a program for the treatment of alcoholics to begin operating this summer, admitting women and youth for the first time.

An agreement to lease the now-idle Wayne County Child Development Center near Northville for use as the largest inpatient alcoholic rehabilitation center in Michigan was formally approved by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners at a meeting last month.

The agreements calls for the State Department of Social Services to pay $3,756,801 to lease the county-owned complex including 20 buildings on 100 acres of land, so that Sacred Heart officials may expand their alcoholic rehabilitation program, now headquartered in downtown Detroit.

Fr. Vaughn A. Quinn, director of the Sacred Heart Rehabilitation Center, said he would bring in his mop and bucket crew to spruce up the facilities as soon as the lease was signed.

"No renovations are needed, so as fast as we can apply the elbow grease, we'll begin admitting patients," he added. "There may be some limit on the number of patients we can admit at first because of housekeeping chores and the fact that we have to wait 60 days for the installation of an extensive phone system."

"We probably won't be prepared to accept women and youngsters until September."

Fr. Quinn said the addition of the Northville facility will enable him to double his patient load from 143 to 300. All patients will be screened at the present facility in Detroit before they are sent on to Northville for a minimum 17-week stay in what has been described as "the longest, toughest, most intense inpatient alcoholism treatment program in the nation." In addition, county taxpayers will save $250,000 each year that would have been spent on maintaining the unused property.

Students excel as collegians

The daughter of Belleville residents Mr. and Mrs. Edward Steinman has won a scholarship to Albion College in Albion, Mich., and is among scholars in the Belleville-Romulus community excelling in their studies.

Claire Marie Steinman, whose parents live at 14130 Haggerty Road, was awarded a $1,000 scholarship in the fourth annual Project 250 Awards.

Miss Steinman is a junior majoring in art at the college. A member of the Alpha Lambda Delta honorary, she also belongs to the Albion Choir, the International Club and Big and Little Sisters group.

A volunteer at the Albion Day Care Center, she plans to enter the field of child guidance in the area of art therapy.

AUTO FACTS

By Chester Kosin

In an effort to raise the status of mechanics, members of the service industry, manufacturers and dealers in 1972 founded the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence. Under the institute program, which is voluntary, a mechanic pays a small fee to take all of five tests on different systems of the car. If a mechanic passes any one test he is entitled to wear an orange, white and blue shoulder patch. If he passes all five tests, he qualifies as a certified general automobile mechanic—a master craftsman.

Professional mechanics use only quality parts in repairing cars! KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster, features a vast inventory of quality parts and accessories for both foreign and domestic cars. Our friendly and experienced staff offers prompt, expert counter service and will be happy to help you select the proper parts for your car. We also have a full line of tools and equipment. Ask about our complete machine shop service for turning brake drums, doing valve work, and even rebuilding engines. Call us at 563-3894. We are open daily from 8 A.M. until 8 P.M., and on Saturdays until 5 P.M.

Central state rivers have own personalities

The Pines, Chippewa and Tittabawassee rivers wind through the rolling hills of central Michigan, touching its flatlands, forests and major industrial centers.

Each river has its own personality, offering excellent fishing along more than 300 miles of water safe even for novices. These rivers offer less than day-long trips or up to week-long journeys for the adventurous.

The 110-mile-long Pine River originates in Mecosta County and meanders through five counties before merging with the Chippewa River south of Midland. The Pine is shallow and weedy in summer.

Four to seven days are required to canoe it from Pine Lake to Midland. Those planning a trip on the western half must bring their own craft or rent one at Howard City. There are two canoe liveries at Midland.

Canoeists can launch their craft at Pine Lake or at Milbrook. Other launch sites are at Elm Hall and at the Midland Nature Center.

An interesting variety of 1- or 2-day trips may be made. For wild, wooded country, start a 1-day trip at Pine Lake or Milbrook, ending at Elm Hall.

From Elm Hall, paddle one day along the Pine to Alma through woods and farmlands. Take out at Ely Street in Alma, just above the dam. In this Bicentennial year, the entire downtown area of Alma has been designated as an historic site by state and national Bicentennial committees.

For a 2-day canoe trip on the Pine, start at the dam in St. Louis and parallel Riverside Drive and Pine River Road into Midland. That scenic, 26-mile stretch is equally enjoyable for motorists.

A trip down the 75-mile Chippewa takes three to five days.

The main stream of the Chippewa is canoeable from the Winchester Dam at the Martiny Lake Wildlife Flooding Area, where there are five launch points, to the launch point at Barryton and on to Midland, where the Chippewa merges with the Pine and the Tittabawassee.

A 4- to 5-hour trip can be made from Martiny Lake to Barryton. Day-long trips can be taken from Barryton to Lake Isabella, from Mt. Pleasant west to Lake Isabella, or from Mount Pleasant to Midland.

Mount Pleasant's Island Park, completely surrounded by the river, is the site of two Bicentennial events, Mount Pleasant's Bicentennial Pageant July 4 and the Isabella County Bicentennial Fair Aug. 22-28.

Like the Pine, the Chippewa River has plenty of open and wooded country, but no campgrounds are available west of Midland.

The north branch of the Chippewa River is navigable from the launch point at Evergreen Road in northeast Mecosta County to the main stream at Coldwater Lake and at Mount Pleasant.

The north branch has two dams to portage, the Winchester Dam at Martiny Lake and at Barryton, where the north and main branches merge. The main stream also has two dams, at Coldwater Lake and at Mount Pleasant.

The Tittabawassee River offers real variety, from the northwoods flavor of its northern extremities in Gladwin County, to the resort atmosphere of Secord, Wixom and Sanford lakes or the flat farmlands approaching Midland and that city's industrial array. Midland has a boat launch site at Emerson Park.

Canoe trips on the Tittabawassee range from a scenic 30-miles which takes one to two days to a 130-mile, 4- to 7-day journey extending from the river's northern reaches at Secord

Lake to the city of Midland and on to Saginaw, where the Tittabawassee merges with the Saginaw River.

The 30-mile trip is easy and scenic canoeing, starting at Secord Lake, with only short portages around Secord, Smallwood and McKimney dams. There are several campgrounds along the way, including Secord Lake State Forest Campground and Wildwood State Forest Campground, both on the backwaters of the Tittabawassee.

For those canoeing the river's length, there are also dams at Edenville and the Dow Plant at Midland.

Canoe liveries serving the Tittabawassee are the Wixom Marina, east of Gladwin, and D. and G.

Rental at Sanford.

A co-operative nursery generally is organized by parents to provide a good group experience for their children. The Huron nursery's membership to reach that goal assist the teacher in the classroom on a rotating basis, attend monthly business meetings, serve on a committee or executive board, assist in fund raising and provide transportation and babysitting for the children.

Smith studies flu vaccine in health post

A massive Swine flu vaccination program and the possible restructuring of the Detroit and Wayne County Health departments are two issues that will be considered by Wayne County Commissioner Roy E. Smith in his capacity as a newly-appointed member of the County Board of Health.

Smith (D-26th District) was named to the five-member Board of Health to complete the unexpired term of former Commissioner James DeSana who was elected to the State Legislature. The term ends in April 1980.

The Board of Health establishes public health policies and programs for Wayne County and enforces local, state and federal health laws.

Board members, who serve for 5-year terms, are responsible for the expenditure of nearly $15 million in health funds this fiscal year.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners allocated $9,233,330 in county funds for fiscal 1975-76 for the operation of the Health Department, including the Air Pollution and Respiratory Disease Control Programs." In addition, the Board of Health oversees some $5.5 million in state and federal funds and decides how that money can be best used in numerous public health programs throughout Wayne County.

Smith attended his first board meeting this week.

"On the top of my list for quick action is a county-wide inoculation program against the Swine flu we have been hearing and reading about," Smith said. "The general consensus of the medical community and federal officials is that this flu represents a serious threat to all of us.

"A vaccine has been developed, and I wanted to my part to ensure that it's available to every Wayne County resident who wants it."

Congress has approved a nationwide vaccination program against the virus which will cost $135 million. The states will share $26 million to administer the vaccine, with the bulk of the money going for the actual development of the vaccine itself.

State officials are waiting to hear more from federal officials on when the funds would be available, plus additional guidelines. At that time, the Board of Health will formally consider County participation.

According to Dr. Perry Stearns, drug companies expect to have the vaccine available by July 15, if not sooner.

As a member of the board, Smith also will be involved in a move to restructure the health departments of Wayne County and the City of Detroit which now operate independently.

The State Legislature now is considering three plans designed to provide better and increased health services for all Wayne County residents.

Smith represents District 27, which encompasses Belleville, Plymouth, Wayne and part of Westland, and the townships of Canton, Plymouth, Sumpter, Van Buren and south Northville Township.

Chronowski's club wins regional crownWayne '9' shoots for Class A titleBy TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Wayne Memorial is two victories away from the coveted Class A state baseball championship.

And Coach Jim Chronowski's team will join Clarkston, Owosso and Hazel Park in Flint on Saturday to determine which will wear the 1976 crown.

The four teams will gather at Kearsley High School, site of the Class A state finals.

"We won our first district and regional baseball titles," said Chronowski, "and now we have a shot at our first state baseball title. We got this far by playing 'em one at a time."

"I know it's a cliche, but I told our boys just that - not to look ahead but to play our rivals one at a time."

Wayne earned a shot at the state title by eliminating a strong Livonia Franklin contingent 6-1 in the regional playoffs at Wayndotte.

Righthander Pat Bledsoe turned in a one-hitter to trigger Wayne's key victory. The rugged junior fanned three and walked four, giving up an unearned run in the bottom of the fifth.

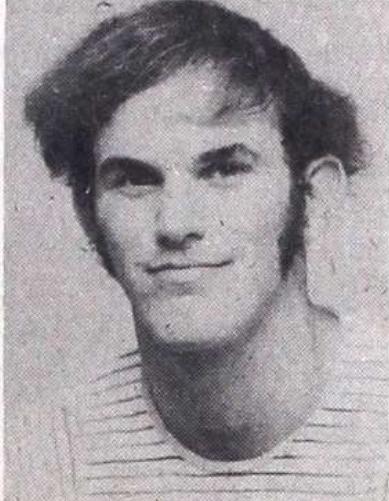

By then, though, Bledsoe's teammates had staked him to six runs.

Wayne got to losing pitcher Mike Flood for two runs in the first inning.

when, with one away, Rick Pittman was safe on an error, advanced to second on a single by Pat Sheridan. Both runners scored when Bill Crews unloaded a two-run double. Wayne made it a 5-0 ball game in the fifth as John Vincil singled, moved to second on Tim Clark's sacrifice, then Mike Melcher walked, bringing up Pittman who drilled a triple, scoring two runs.

Sheridan, wielding a hot bat in the playoffs, sliced a run-scoring single.

West Wayne golf tourney dates are setBy TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

The 1976 City Championship Golf Tournament dates have been set.

The popular amateur golf tournament will be staged the weekend of July 31 and Aug. 1 at Fellows Creek Golf Course, 2936 Lotz Road in Canton Township.

As in the past, the tournament is open to all male golfers who reside or work for a tax-paying or tax-supported institute in the following cities: Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Garden City and Canton Township.

Burger King breaks jinx, wins opener

Westland Burger King, stocked with local baseball talent, launched the 1976 Adray League campaign with a pair of victories over Wendy's Restaurant.

"We broke that opening day jinx," said Burger King manager George Yekel. "I can't remember winning a doubleheader in any of our openers."

Mark Denise was credited with the victory in the first game in relief of starter Rick Britz. Britz was replaced in the sixth when Burger King fell behind 6-4.

The Westlanders rallied for two runs in the sixth inning as Denise drilled a double, Steve Tresile walked and a grounder to short wound up as a two-run error.

In the seventh, Burger King took the lead for good as Ken Robinson and Larry Clark each sliced doubles. Jack McCaffrey walked and with runners on first and second, a fielder's choice resulted in a throwing error and Clark scored.

Pat McAllen twirled an 8-hitter, struck out eight and walked none as Burger King won the nightcap 7-0.

McCaffrey laid down two squeeze bunts which produced two of the Burger King's runs while a bases-loaded single by Gary Beyrand led to two more runs.

and Mark Grider's single paved the way for Wayne's fifth inning run.

Wayne had to go extra innings with Livonia Stevenson in order to make it to the championship round, Chronowski's minion ousted the Spartans 2-1 in the ninth.

Jim Canfield went the distance, struck out 11 and walked two in a 7-hitter while loser Tim Murphy whiffed 10 and walked three in a six-hit pitching effort.

Wayne drew first blood as Idunate led off the second with a double and scored when Grider also bagged a two-base hit.

Stevenson however tied it up in the top of the fourth and neither team could change the score until the ninth when Crews' leadoff single shifted the tide.

Crews stole second and the peg to cut him down was deflected into center field, so the Wayne baserunner advanced to third where he later scored on an infield grounder.

Wayne captured its inaugural district baseball championship by holding off Ann Arbor Huron 8-6. Huron rallied for six runs in the fifth inning to erase a 5-run Wayne lead and rout starter Canfield from the mound.

Reliever Don Johnson inherited a 5-4 lead however he unleashed a wild throw, scoring the tying run. A single drove in the go-ahead run.

Wayne came back to win it with three runs in the sixth thanks to a one-out single by John Vincil, a single by Clark and a sacrifice by Melcher.

With runners on second and third, Pittman singled home two runs, giving Wayne a 7-6 lead, then Sheridan slapped a base hit which enabled Pittman to score after the Huron centerfielder let the ball get through his legs.

Melcher, with a single and home run, Pittman with a pair of singles

Hazel Park is Wayne's 1st test
2 to meet in semi-finals in Flint

Wayne Memorial and Hazel Park will kick off the action Saturday at 11 a.m. in the semi-final round of the Class A state baseball championship.

In the other bracket Clarkston will meet Owosso at 1:30 for the right to meet the winner of the Hazel Park and Wayne Memorial game.

The championship will be held at 3:30 p.m. and tickets are priced at $2 for adults and students. The tickets are good for all three games.

Hazel Park will carry a 22-13 won-lost record into the semis.

"Any time any prep team wins more than 20 games you have to respect them," said Wayne Memorial Coach Jim Chronowski. "Hazel Park ousted Royal Oak Kimball, considered the class of the eastside schools.

"So they're going to be tough,"

Chronowski added.

Asked who'll start on the mound for him in the first game, the Wayne skipper replied that he would be using a southpaw, Jim Canfield.

"Canfield is scheduled to start for us in the first game and we'll go with Bledsoe (Pat) in the nightcap," Chronowski added.

That is, of course, if Wayne survives the semi-finals.

Local fans who wish to see Wayne play in the state finals can get to Flint Lincoln Park, site of the playoffs, by taking 1023 or I-75 to Flint.

Fans should get off at the Bristol Road exit, head east to VanSlyke Road, then take VanSlyke north, pass Kemphill Road to Atherton Road.

Turn east on Atherton. Flint Lincoln Park is located between VanSlyke and Fenton Roads.

Northwest selects its best

Three Livonia Franklin players who were instrumental in the Patriots' chase for the Northwest Suburban Conference baseball championship were named by the league coaches to the 1976 all-conference team.

The players are Mike Flood, Jerry Pollard and Tim Hollingsworth. Flood, a senior hurler, picked up six wins in seven outings, while Pollard, also a senior, backstopped the team. Romulus gals begin swinging

While the Romulus Men's softball leagues continue to look for clear-cut leaders, the women softballers have four teams that remain undefeated.

Huron Valley Steel has a slim one-game edge over Bo's in League A as the pacesetter has compiled a 6-1 won-lost record as compared to Bo's 6-2.

Meanwhile, in the League B, two teams - American Hospital and Difco are deadlocked in first with identical 5-2 records. However, the next five teams are still in grasp of the frontrunners.

Baum's and 2001 appear heading for a showdown in the West Division of the women's league as both have three-game winning strings. Over in the East Polka Dot and Odd Squad enjoy 3-0 records.

Co-West leader 2001 scored six times in the first inning and five in the fifth to bury Baldo's Stingers 19-8 in a game called after five because of the "mercy rule."

Carol Johnson, the losing pitcher, picked up three hits in as many appearances at the plate while teammates Linda Swiecki and Diane Colley each went two for two. Nancy Miller chipped in a pair of doubles in a losing cause.

In their second outing, 2001 spotted Sash and Screen two runs in the first inning, then came back and tallied five times in that frame and added seven more in the fourth en route to a 12-8 victory.

Lorie Hadyniak and Sharon Howie split six hits between them while Linda Fee and Patsy Dolencic each sacked two singles for the winners.

Annie Flowers, who went the distance, was the winning pitcher. Scoring six in the first frame, 2001 had an easy time with Baldo's who succumbed 19-8. Sharon Howie drilled a home run and singled for the winners.

Winning pitcher Leanne Silvey swatted three singles and a double to help her cause while Lorie Hadyniak, Donna Peel, and Diane Soja each checked in with four hits.

A 7-run fourth inning outburst lifted 2001 past Meadow Lanes 12-8. The winners got to losing pitcher Lisa Zbikowski for nine hits, including Carol Casmer's 3-run home run. Brenda Frazier and Sandee Seller each had a couple of hits.

Dino's took the spirit out of The Spirit of 76 as it crushed its West Division rivals 19-1. Dino's tilted the scoreboard 11 times in the third inning as Nancy Schonscheck missed hitting for the cycle when she failed to get a double. Her home run, triple and single chased home four runs.

Dino's Kim Druyer also had three singles while Terri Druyer accounted for a pair of doubles and a single and Tammy Riggs had two doubles.

Baum's Funeral Home also had an easy time with the Spirit of 76 as the perennial Romulus powerhouse scored an 20-5 victory. Sue Kramer, the winning pitcher, helped her cause with three RBI's thanks to a pair of doubles and a single.

Barb Moers and Mary Dzudzic also had three for five days while Tina Setco chalked up two hits in two appearances at the plate.

The Young Pioneers edged Baldo's Stingers 7-6 as the winners played an extra inning to determine the outcome of the game. The lead changed hands three times as both teams put on an excellent display of defense.

Barb Calleja swatted four singles for a perfect day while mate Evie Bordt drove home two runs with two doubles. Carol Harriff's triple produced two Stinger runs and Donna Ruppel's pair of singles led to two more runs.

Carol Johnson, who went the distance, was tagged for the loss.

Though each team had 18 hits, the Odd Squad made the most in a 14-7 triumph over Wheeler's 7-11.

Wayne driver wins

For the second consecutive week Wayne's Steve Foster made a clean sweep in the Pro Class at E-Z Riders' Raceway in Milan.

Competing with other top riders from Michigan and Ohio, Foster won his heat race and the main event.

Jim White, also from Wayne, placed fourth in the main event. This gave him a second place overall in the 100 class. In the 360-B Class, Jerry Powers and Charlie Beavers, both from Belleville, placed second and fourth, respectively.

Late last year, while in northwest Africa gathering outdoor and travel story material, I met a delightful couple, Ernst and Lore Schnide. We became very good friends during the week we spent together in Morocco, a friendship we are continuing now by mail.

Ernst and Lore both grew up in Germany, suffering through the Hitler regime and Allied bombings there. At the first opportunity following World War II, they came to the United States. They now live in Stamford, Connecticut, where Ernst owns his own firm, the Fairfield Medical Products, Inc. It is a real Horatio Alger-type success story of a poor boy making good through his own initiative.

An active boater, Ernst also owns a 31-foot Uniflite cruiser which he outfitted with $12,000 worth of emergency medical equipment, bringing its total value up around $70,000. We talked about the craft last December as Ernst said he was searching for a way to put it into some type of public service. The way has now been found.

This spring the cruiser, now named "Star of Life No. 1," was turned over to local authorities as a sea-going ambulance, believed to be the first of its kind in the United States. It will remain based in Stamford but on Memorial Day it went into service on Long Island Sound as a means of providing emergency medical services to boatmen and fishermen.

Schindeler's firm will pay all operating expenses for the Star of Life but both the medical and deck crew will be volunteer. Plans call for doctors, registered nurses and certified emergency medical technicians, including members of the community ambulance corps, to take care of the medical needs. The Coast Guard Auxiliary and marine division police officers will operate the craft. There will be no charge for medical services.

Emergency equipment aboard includes a heart defibrillator, electro-cardiograph telemetry output, coronary surveillance unit, pulse and blood pressure monitors, resuscitators and suction units, sterilizers, drugs and a variety of first aid equipment.

The Star of Life, named for the new international symbol for emergency medical services, a blue six-pointed "snowflake" star, has a topspeed of 35 mph. This will enable it to respond to medical emergencies such as fires and explosions on boats, submersion and exposure cases, heart attacks and accidents ranging from fractures to fishhook wounds.

During peak boating periods the boat will be on patrol, monitoring distress radio channels and will be in direct contact with Coast Guard and police units in the area. When docked, the craft can still be called for quick emergency service through calls to the marine operator or local police emergency numbers.

This gesture of the Schnideles is a fine one, indeed. It is also one which should be copied in high-boating areas of Michigan. Think what it could mean here to have such a craft available during the peak of the Great Lakes salmon runs or in southeastern Michigan where boat traffic is always heavy during warm weather.

Midas gals remain perfect in Westland

Madeline Tract scattered seven hits as undefeated Midas Mufflers won a 9-2 decision from Town & Country Dodge in the Westland Women's Softball League.

The victory enabled Midas, 4-0 on the year, to remain atop of the league standings, one game out of the reach of Studio Lounge and Lynn's Country Barr which are deadlocked in second place, (3-1).

Sue Harding and Gerri McDagh each had two hits for the winner with Miss Harding accounting for two RBI's.

Losing pitcher Linda Dominik was tagged for four runs in the third inning and 16-hits for the evening. Teammate Diane Leflwich sliced a run-scoring single.

Studio, always in a threat, pulled a thorn from its side when it broke a 5-all knot in the top of the seventh to edge its arch-rivals 6-5.

Vicki Pier's double chased home the winning run.

Johnny's left two runners on base in the seventh as winning pitcher Sharon Hodder got her final out on a harmless grounder. Miss Hodder was tagged for 14 hits in picking up the victory.

Sheryl Shaffer was the loser. She gave up 13 safeties.

Miss Pier wound up the evening with a single and double and two RBI's while teammate Sue Sorenson also chipped in a couple of singles. Annette Belanger drilled a triple and missed a home run.

Diane Pienowski missed hitting for the cycle - (single, double, triple and homer) when she carded all but the homer. Bev Liverance drove in two runs with three singles and was the winning pitcher.

Cindy Kos, charged with the loss, was the victim of 21 Inmates' hits.

Inmates' Donna Reed scored four times as collected five RBI's for the winners who tilted the scoreboard for 15 runs in the third inning.

at the plate was wasted as the Wheeler slugger hammered a homer, doubled and singled. Teammate Debbie Rashi collected three hits and Charlene Cole belted a bases-loaded triple. Linda Weber also had three hits for the losers.

The Young Pioneers unleashed 37 runs to sink Captain Nemo's 37-4 for their first win of the season. The winners tallied 16 times in the first inning and there was little doubt about the outcome of the game after that inning.

The winners collected seven home runs, two each by Rose Thoms and Jane Schaeffer while Tammy Kitchens, Priscilla Gray and Debbie Mays each belted one.

Debbie Trevino hurled the Polka Dot Party Store past Kerrett's 20-2 as Debbie Owens hammered two grand slam home runs for the winners. Brenda Kohn, Cindy Clark and Delta Adams each had two hits.

Baum's survived upset-minded 76'ers 14-12 thanks to Marianne Brainerd whose four-for-four efforts, including a home run, paved the way for seven runs. Sister Vickie also smacked a homer and single while Marianne Oaks chipped in four hits and Kathy Mulready had a three for five night.

Merri Clelland's grand slam home run lifted the Red Apple to a one-sided 15-2 victory over Greenbriars Market. Martha Bowen and Lynne Montgomery each had three hits, including home runs, while Debra Shallow slived a single and double.

Judy Mullens gave up five hits, struck out five and walked three in chalking up the victory.

Scoring a fantastic 28 runs - what could be a record in the Romulus League - Dean & Company overwhelmed the Hustlers 31-2 in a game called after four because of the mercy run.

Paula Hudson punched her first grand slam homer of the season and Faye Savage blasted a 250-foot 3-run Homer for the winners.

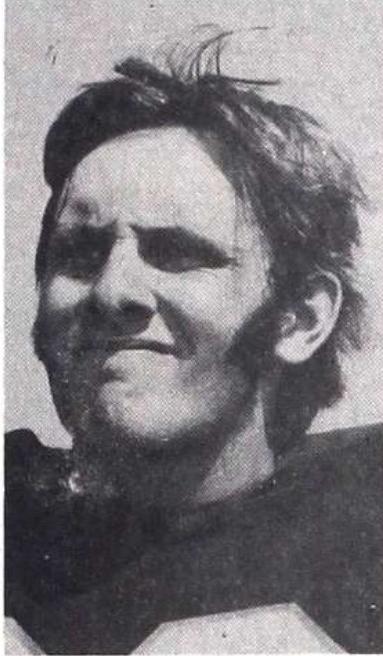

Westland grid star boots his way to WSU records

A year ago Wayne State University kicker Bill Kelley, former Westland-John Glenn star, made his first visit to the Summer Kicking School at Wisconsin State University-River Falls and the result was a pair of kick-scoring records for the strong-legged specialist who is also a backup tight end at WSU.

Kelley is making the jaunt again for the June 20-26 session where he will be in close association with NFL and top collegiate kickers. Who knows what the result will be for the Tartars in '76?

As a freshman, Kelley booted two of four extra points, but never tried a field goal and drew some kickoff assignments. In his sophomore season, Kelley managed only some kickoff duty as then-senior Greg Guyon set WSU kick-scoring marks with 40 total points and seven field goals.

Making the most of his chance last year and fortified with the knowledge and confidence gained at the Summer Kicking School, Kelley shattered the total points mark at WSU with 45 kick-scoring points and also set a record with 30 successful extra points (in 34 tries). He also nailed five of 10 field goals. He also improved his kickoff work and made what had been a problem area a strong point in then-second year Head Coach Dick Lowry's mind.

BILL KELLEY
Record-kicker

Kelley's 1976 field goals were 35, 38, 35, 42 and 19 yards. The shortest one was the margin of victory in the season finale 24-21 win over Evansville to cap a record 8-3-0 season while his field goal cemented the Grand Valley game and dictated strategy in the Northwood and Ferris State GLIAC wins.

During the first half of the season, Kelley had a string of 17 consecutive successful extra point kicks which set another WSU record. The 6-2, 216-pound 21-year old also equalled a WSU Stadium record by toeing five extra points (in as many tries) in the 35-14 win over Valparaiso.

While his holder of the last year (junior-to-be QB Terry Copacia) and snapper (junior-to-be John Sokolosky) won't be making this trip since Kelley pays his own way to the Kicking School, they will be around in the fall when WSU begins pre-season drills August 23 for a rigorous 10-game schedule including defense of the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) title.

Bill Kelley hopes he has a lot of kicks coming for the Tartars in '76.

Waterstone is named all-MIAA

Jeff Waterstone, a multi-sport standout at Livonia Franklin three years ago, was named to the first string of the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association Baseball Team.

A junior, Waterstone was recognized as one of the top outfielders in the MIAA. He batted .363 for Hope College and was one of 11 players honored by the conference coaches.

Plymouth's Dan Hees, a senior at Adrian College, was selected as one of four outfielders on the all-MIAA second team.

Coaches named Alma's sophomore hurler Mike Gnatowski as the MIAA's most valuable player. The sophomore pitcher amassed a 1.55 earned run average en route to a 5-1 won-lost record.

Barbecues

Many think of charcoal broiling as cooking steaks, hot dogs or hamburgers outdoors. Wake up, there are many other foods gaining in popularity for the grill.

Fresh cuts of beef, pork and lamb; cured, smoked or canned meats, varieties of sausage, poultry, and seafoods provide a wide choice. In fact, any meat that can be roasted or broiled can be cooked on the grill or the rotisserie.

Suggestions for the Grill

1. Shrimp - A gourmet delight Select green jumbo shrimp. Split them down the back with scissors and remove the back veins. Marinate shrimp for 2 to 3 hours in 1/2 soy sauce and 1/2 vegetable oil seasoned with 1 crushed garlic clove and 1 teaspoon grated ginger. Broil over medium heat 4 minutes on each side. Serve with boiled rice and tossed green salad.

2. Foil Roasted Fish - Easy to cook, requires no basting or turning. Use fish fillets or whole small fish. Clean, rub with butter or margarine, add a sprig of parsley, and season with salt and pepper. Wrap in a double thickness of oiled aluminum foil and cook right on the coals 20 to 30 minutes. Serve with lemon wedge, baked potato, and tossed green salad.

3. Pork Chops - Especially tasty but requires a long slow cooking period. Build the fire well ahead and get the temperature low. Brush pork with French dressing and place on grill. Turn every 10 to 15 minutes. Cook until pork is well browned, tender and thoroughly cooked. Serve with sauteed apples and hot potato salad.

Food Shopping, 1776 Style

In keeping with a popular fantasy during the Bicentennial Year, imagine it is 1776 and you are shopping for food supplies in that bustling city of Philadelphia. You buy in volume - in gallons and barrels and hundred pounds. The reason: You don't get to the store so often and - convenience foods being in the future - you make your recipes from scratch. You note that flour is up to 9 shillings and 4 pence per 100 pounds and sugar demands 31.90 shillings a 100 pounds. That other favorite sweetner, molasses, costs 1.05 shillings a gallon. A barrel of beef (about 100 pounds), salted and brined, has climbed to 34.33 shillings and a like amount of pork, similarly treated, sells for 39.07 shillings. A gallon of rum is 1.84 shillings. You consider butter at 5 shillings a pound, but might heed the merchant's advise that the price is "excessive" and that the "buyer look elsewhere." You try to stretch your shillings because you know they are hard to come by. Common laboreres make 3 shillings a day; carpenters, along with joiners and riggers of the shipbuilding trade, earn 5 shillings a day. A tailor receives 3 shillings plus room and board for making a suit, whether it takes a day or a week to do the job. A workday is 12 hours long - with no coffee break - and a week's work is 6 days. Another way to look at it: A skilled laborer works 3 hours to buy a gallon of molasses, 8 days and 5 hours for a 100-pound barrel of beef, 1 day and 3 hours for a pound of butter, and 6 hours for a gallon of rum. For a rough comparision, in 1976 terms, a shilling was about 25 cents and a pence, 2 cents.
